Time - Children Relocation Project 8387

KPFA's youngest generation of subscribers has been agitating for more and better children's programs. Since it was noted in Folio that only 30% of the children of subscribers listen to children's programs, letters, telephone calls and personal appearances of parents at KPFA's offices have verified KPFA's belief in the importance of these programs. Many parents pointed out that many of KPFA's programs appeal to only a minority of the audience, and indeed that it is KPFA's tradition to provide unique program material not available elsewhere.

Admittedly there is gratification that subscribers are now using the same arguments KPFA has long directed toward the audience in seeking support from the community for what is unique in KPFA. Statistics notwithstanding—in actual numbers 209 out of 675 families with children listen to children's programs, and 551 adults out of 1,688 with and without children listen! This sampling of the actual listening audience is enough to convince us that children's programs are here to stay at KPFA.

Thus—children's programs are now redesigned to appeal (as far as possible) to adults as well as children, from 4:30 to 5:30 each week-day. Virginia Maynard begins a new series, "Princess and the Goblins" Sundays at 7:00 p.m., rebroadcast in the children's hour at 4:45 Mondays. "Needle in the Haystack" read by Bill Matheson is heard Mondays and Fridays at 4:30. John Montgomery's "Animal Tales", Mondays at 5:15; and Quail Hawkins new series "Wheel on the School" is Tuesday and Thursday at 5:15. Else Fagrell, whose stories are recorded for KPFA and use in the Humboldt County Schools by KHSC of Humboldt State College, is heard at 4:30 on Wednesdays. We look forward to comments on the new programs and new time.

Our only Children's Program not particularly designed for children, Ethnic Music, will be moving next Folio to an hour more accessible to the little ones but not necessarily impinging upon their freedom not to listen. That hour will be 7:00 p.m. on a week night yet to be worked out with the FCC, objections from the Sunday Night Club notwithstanding, unless it just doesn't work out that way

There are a number of Subscriber Meetings on schedule for the near future. Marin subscribers are invited to attend a meeting, March 17, Sunday in Sausalito at 2:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Len Cannonson, Gate 4, Marinship (at intersection of Bridgeway and Novato Streets). Subscribers are encouraged to bring interested friends. Anthony Boucher, Bob Schutz, Rolf Cahn and Henry Jacobs will perform the Pacifica Cantata if time permits.

Plans are under way for a general A/C-KPFA birthday meeting on April 14 (the last day of KPFA's 8th year). We haven't decided on the place as yet and are encouraging suggestions. We hope to meet at a place convenient to all our A/C's home bases. Is there such a place?
